

HIGH-LEVEL PANEL DISCUSSION

PROMOTING ENERGY TRANSITION AND FOOD SECURITY: THE ROLE OF THE G7 UNDER GERMANY'S PRESIDENCY

THURSDAY, JUNE 23RD
10.30-12.30

ISTITUTO AFFARI INTERNAZIONALI
VIA DEI MONTECATINI 17, ROMA

LIVE-STREAMED ON OUR FACEBOOK PROFILE
Working language: English

The Covid-19 crisis and the war in Ukraine added further pressures on the current rule-based multilateral order and its capacity to deal with emerging global challenges. The German G7 Presidency faces the opportunity to tackle key issues of multilateral cooperation at unprecedented turbulent times. Surging energy and food prices are especially threatening food security and green transition in G7 member states and developing and emerging countries in the Global South.

The Istituto Affari Internazionali (IAI), in cooperation with the German Embassy in Rome, organizes a hybrid event to discuss the potential role of the G7 in fostering the transition towards more sustainable energy and food systems in a contested geopolitical context, ahead of the Summit of the G7 Head of State and Government to be held in Schloss Elmau, on the next 26th-28th of June 2022.

h. 10.15 Welcome to participants

Welcome
remarks

FERDINANDO NELLI FEROCI, President, Istituto Affari Internazionali (IAI)
VIKTOR ELBLING, Ambassador, German Embassy in Rome

Panel

Speakers

EUGENIO DACREMA, Early Warning and Economic Risk Analyst, WFP
FRANCESCO RAMPA, Head of the Sustainable Food Systems Programme, ECDPM
BETTINA RUDLOFF, Senior Associate, SWP
MANAL SHEHABI, Senior Research Fellow, Oxford Institute for Energy Studies

Moderator

FABRIZIO BOTTI, Senior Fellow, IAI

Ambasciata
della Repubblica Federale di Germania
Roma

