IAI inaugurates its roadshow at Italian universities of the 2023 edition of its annual Italian Foreign Policy Report at the University of Siena. The Report, developed in the framework of the Strategic Partnership with the Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo, is the result of the work of a group of researchers at the Institute coordinated by the Italian Foreign Policy Programme. The presentation event offers an opportunity not only to discuss what Italy's foreign policy was in 2023 but also to identify possible development lines and critical junctures for 2024, involving students and professors from the University's Faculty of Political Science.
